IMPRESSIVE

Ceremonies Will Mark Dedication of New Parochial School.

Big Day For Catholics and the Residents of Germantown.

Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue Will Assist and Preach Sermon.

BANQUET FOR VISITING CLERGY

The biggest day in the history of that section of our city known as Germantown will be Sunday, February 11, when the new and magnificent parochial school just erected by the Rev. Fathers Thome and Ruff and the people of St. Vincent de Paul's congregation will be solemnly dedicated. Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, Bishop of Louisville, will preside at the impressive services and preach the sermon. The presence of nearly every priest in Louisville and many from outside the city will lend great splendor to the occasion, for which every arrangement has been made and our German Catholic citizens are justly proud.

The programme will begin with solemn vespers coram episcopo at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. Engelbert Bachmann will be the celebrant, assisted by Rev. J. J. Rothert as deacon and Rev. Patrick Monaghan as sub-deacon. Very Rev. James P. Cronin, V. G., will be assistant priest to the Bishop, with Revs. Henry Westermann and Herman Jansen as chaplains, and Rev. Father R. C. Ruff, assistant pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's, will be master of ceremonies. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will follow the Bishop's sermon, when in procession the clergy will proceed to the new building and the blessing take place. The cantors for this solemn ceremony will be the Rev. Dr. G. W. Schumann, D. D., and Fathers Patrick Walsh, Charles P. Raffo, Thomas A. York and George A. Weiss. When the ceremonies are concluded a banquet will be tendered the clergy in the new building.

About 455 children, divided into eight grades, all branches of the common school curriculum were here taught, the highest grade including typewriting and shorthand. A child graduating from this school is not only well equipped in religious matters, but also in secular as well, so that it is easily enabled to battle in commercial pursuits.

The Ursuline Sisters, who have their mother house in this city at Shelby and Chestnut streets, have taken charge of this school for a number of years. In the early days of the parish the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth had charge, but this was before this part of the city became a strictly German settlement and parish.

The new school building is one of the most modern buildings in the city. While it was put up with much labor and cost, nevertheless all feel that they are well paid for their efforts at present and those yet to store for them. A large basement is under the entire building divided in such a way that it gives sufficient play room for the children in time of inclement weather. Also separate toilets and washrooms are provided for. The boiler room is off from the main building, which is heated by steam. There are three main entrances for the children, the doors leading outside all supplied with the newest patents. All have Prince panic bolts, so that should a panic of any kind ensue the doors spring open upon the slightest touch of the levers. The building is absolutely fire-proof. The floors are made of fire tiling and re-enforced concrete, the strips imbedded in cement and timber, over which is laid a maple floor, thus making the school room sound-proof. The building has ten class rooms and two smaller rooms. Every class room is regulation size, 28x32 feet. Also maple cloak rooms are provided for. The halls and corridors are sixteen feet wide, as are also the stairways, all of concrete. A tower or cupola sets off the entire building. This cupola is not only ornamental but also useful, as it belongs to the ventilation system. In order to get a correct idea to appreciate this building one must see it. The entire building is lighted by electricity and every class room is provided with sufficient light, so that even on the darkest days they can be flooded with light. One does not say too much when he uses the words of an enthusiastic visitor when he says this building: "It surely is a credit to the parish, to Germantown and the city."

NELSON COUNTY.

A wedding of interest in Nelson county was solemnized Monday at St. Catherine's church, New Haven, when William Hall led to the altar Miss Sofia Hall. The contracting parties are well known and popular, and their friends thronged the church to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Father William P. Hogarty.

CHOSEN AS BISHOP.

"Who, me?" Bishop of Des Moines exclaimed the Rev. Austin Dowling, of Providence, R. I., when told Wednesday of his appointment to that city. "Why, I don't know anybody out in that part of the country. It seems improbable; I haven't heard anything about it," he said. Later he remembered that he was acquainted with Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, who is the head of the province, and whose duty it would be to submit names to Rome for the appointment. Father Dowling was born in New York City in 1868, but his home before entering the priesthood was in Newport. He has been rector of the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul for seven years.

BOSTON

Gives Cardinal O'Connell a Heartfelt Welcome Home.

Bringing expressions of Papal affection and love for the American people, non-Catholics as well as Catholics, His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell returned from Rome Wednesday as the first prince of the church ever resident in New England. Despite severe winter conditions, more than 100,000 people lined the streets to welcome him, and he was escorted by a procession of many Catholic societies to his home in Back Bay district. When the steamer Canopic, which brought him back, pushed her way up to quarantine at dawn a little delegation, headed by Bishop Anderson, of Boston; Mayor Fitzgerald and Edwin V. Curtis, Collector of the Port, boarded the steamer and extended the first greetings. It was in reply to the Mayor that the Cardinal made known the feeling of the Pope toward America. To the people in this country, the Cardinal said, the Roman Pontiff looks for consolation, and for them he has such a regard that he considers there are many non-Catholics here who are better than some of the Catholics in Europe.

Thursday, from his golden jubilee throne in the Cathedral, the Cardinal witnessed the celebration of the solemn Pontifical mass of thanksgiving, at which Bishop John J. Nolan, of Hartford, was the celebrant, and Bishop Anderson, of Boston, delivered the sermon.

DEDICATION

Of St. Augustine's Hall Will Take Place Monday.

Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue will dedicate St. Augustine's Hall, on Broadway, near Thirtieth, on Monday night, preceding the concert and minstrel show that will be given for the new church. The hall is now completed and equipped with all modern improvements, with a seating capacity of over 500 and without obstruction of the view. There will be a concert and minstrel show on Monday and Tuesday nights, when a very creditable and amusing performance will be given. The minstrel company has been selected from members of the colored band and numbers twenty-five people. While the music will be new there will be real negro minstrelsy interspersed with the old-time melodies. Following the grand first part will be short sketches and turns that will make a hit on any stage. The programme is up to date and no one will be disappointed.

MACKIN COUNCIL

Invites Public to Hear Father Hanley's Lecture.

At the meeting of Mackin Council last Monday night arrangements were made for a free lecture at the club house on Sunday night, February 11, by the Rev. Father Benedict Hanley, C. P., to which the members and their friends are invited. Father Hanley, who is one of the most forceful and eloquent missionaries of the Passionist order, will speak on "Socialism and Catholicism," a subject that is now receiving the attention of the world's greatest men.

Though quite an amount of business was transacted it was mostly routine, the most important relating to the opera to be produced this spring, rehearsals for which will soon begin. President Adams announced that the big initiation would take place just before Lent, when there will be another reunion and social meeting of all the members.

CONGRATULATED.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Genevieve Murphy and John F. Gillooley, whose marriage will be solemnized at St. Augustine's church in Jeffersonville on Wednesday, February 14, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. John O'Connell performing the ceremony. Miss Murphy is the youngest daughter of Capt. John R. and Mrs. Murphy, 527 East Market street, Jeffersonville, and has been prominent in social and church circles. The groom is a well known and popular resident of Louisville. Both young people are receiving the congratulations of their many friends, and the wedding will be one of the most interesting that has taken place in Jeffersonville for some time past.

ASSISTING BISHOP GARRIGAN.

After an extended conference with the Right Rev. Bishop Garrigan the Board of Commercial Club has agreed to undertake to raise the sum of $10,000, upon the condition that the cost of the proposed Catholic college building in that city shall not be less than $50,000.

WOMEN

Organizing For Home Rule and Brighter Conditions in Ireland.

Will Undertake Conversion of Opponents of National Movement.

Better Housing and Rural Environment Part of Programme.

BELFAST WOMAN THE LEADER

From Dublin comes news that among the newer associations aiming at the development of a new Ireland with brighter conditions and better administration, none is more active than the United Irishwomen. This is the women's side of the great national movement that is animating the nation to-day. The title recalls somewhat the memories of the revolutionary days of Emmet, Tone and Lord Edward Fitzgerald, when Irish women did not hesitate to shoulder a pike and march to the hillsides in defense of their fatherland. The new movement is of a tamer character, although its organizers make no secret of their determination to repeat the actions of their sisters of the "Ninety-eight" period should England refuse to remove the grievance for which Ireland clamors.

The immediate object of the "United Irishwomen" is, however, to get together a substantial volume of opinion that will be representative of the whole of the leading women of Ireland, independent of creed or class, with a view in focusing attention on the need for better housing accommodation and the brightening of rural life.

Although these United Irishwomen have not yet had time to make much stir in the country, there are indications that the movement will become quite as popular as the Ladies' Land League, which had in its day the guiding influence of Charles Stewart Parnell's sister, who died only recently. It is significant that, like the United Irishmen, this new women's movement had its origin in Ulster, and has already in its ranks a large number of Protestant women of means and influence, who have never before taken any active part in the political life of the country. This is regarded as the most encouraging feature of the organization, because it is felt that many of these women will have a far-reaching influence on their masculine neighbors who have hitherto been uncompromisingly hostile to anything in the shape of a home rule Parliament in Dublin.

The Secretary and organizer of the United Irishwomen is Miss Edith Crawford, a Belfast woman, who has been for a number of years actively engaged in improving the social and intellectual side of young Irish women in the northern capital. She is understood to have enlisted the co-operation of American women like the Duchess of Manchester, the Countess of Donoughmore and Lady Barrymore, though of course no one expects to see these women carrying a pike or shouldering a blunderbuss should home rule fail to materialize.

A branch of the United Irishwomen has been established in Conemaugh, perhaps out of regard for the sympathetic support of the Duchess of Manchester, while other branches are in process of formation throughout the other three provinces. Dancing parties are part of the means by which the organizers of the movement hope to convert young men from any inclination to oppose home rule.

VETERAN FIREMAN.

Many friends were grieved to hear of the death of John McCrory, the veteran fireman, which occurred last Saturday at his home, 739 East Main street. For over a quarter of a century the deceased was a faithful member of the local fire department and had a record that was pointed to with pride. Mr. McCrory was always a practical Catholic, and died fortified with the last sacraments. A son, who also was an engineer in the fire department, died while in the service. A widow, Mrs. Jane McCrory, and three daughters, Misses Anna, Genevieve and Lula McCrory, survive him. His funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. John's church. The requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Schumann, who paid a kindly tribute to the memory of the deceased. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved widow and daughters.

ANOTHER DIOCESE.

The Pope ratified on Wednesday the decision of the Consistorial congregation creating a new diocese of Des Moines, with the Rev. Austin Dowling, rector of the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul at Providence, R. I., as Bishop. The decision of the Consistorial congregation was presented to the Pope by Cardinal Delal, the secretary.

WILL PUSH WORK.

Artists are now busy frescoing and repainting the interior of St. Boniface church, and will push the work in order to have it finished in time for the Easter celebration. The work will be of a very artistic and beautiful character, the walls being of a light cream color. In the transept will be painted the four evangelists—Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. Around the sanctuary will be clouds of angels and in the rotunda the guardian angels, while over the choir and sacristy there will be large paintings.

POLITICS

One Good Feature in Representative Holland's School Bill.

School Board Members Should Be Chosen From Each District.

Why Was Name of the James' Banquet Toastmaster Withheld?

PROMOTERS SHOWED WISDOM

In spite of the many protests against Representative John Holland's so-called ripper bill doing away with the local Board of Education, there is one section that appeals to every fair-minded citizen. That is the one which would have a board of seven members elected from the respective school districts and not as in the present case the five members comprising the Board of Education all living in the Eastern part of the city, naturally that section being therefore bound to be the beneficiary as the members are more familiar with its needs and wants. Under the new suggestion of electing one from each school district, the member would be obliged and held responsible for the wants of his constituents.

Someone certainly slipped over a Joker on Adam Spahn, the representative from the Second and Third wards, when he was induced to introduce a bill in the Legislature making it a fine of from $5 to $50 for anyone giving away a street car transfer. Maybe Adam doesn't know that 40 per cent. of the people who secure transfers never use them on account of the failure to make connections in a reasonable time and prefer to walk unless they are going quite a distance. Even the officials of the street car company must have felt that to carry away a transfer was a waste of space.

Reading Mr. Spahn's bill. Speaking of Jokers, one was certainly slipped over many of those who attended the Ollie James banquet at Frankfort when at the last minute, so to speak, announcement was made that Dan E. O'Sullivan would act as toastmaster, and this after the Louisville Democrats had already gone to Frankfort. Not a line appeared in the local papers in regard to this until the evening of the banquet, when the Evening Post, whom O'Sullivan was to address, hurriedly ran his picture. Were the promoters of the banquet afraid of an appreciable decrease in the attendance if the fact were known that O'Sullivan was chosen as toastmaster? On top of this the Louisville papers, with one exception, never made any reference to the banquet next day, which certainly must be something interfering to the speakers and promoters.

Every now and then the Evening Post comes forward with an outburst of criticism for the Louisville police department, comparing its members unfavorably with the Grinstead police, and immediately after each outburst the Post's former model officer, ex-Capt. Robert J. Foster, kills the effect of the article by getting mixed up in some brawl or brawling some innocent citizen. The Post should give Foster for a day or so two after each article.

SACRED HEART RETREAT.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Sacred Heart Retreat on the Newburg road, many will witness the impressive ceremony of five young men receiving the habit of the Passionist order. The services at which these postulants forsake the world and become followers of the cross are most solemn.

RECENT DEATHS.

Mrs. Josephine Stey, widow of John Stey, died Wednesday morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. William Meagher, 1423 Washington street. Her death resulted from cancer. Mrs. Stey was fifty-four years old and was held in high esteem in Catholic church circles. The funeral took place yesterday morning from St. Joseph's church.

William O'Connell, aged fifty-eight, a grocer at 1836 High street, died of a complication of diseases at St. Anthony's Hospital Wednesday following an illness of several weeks. Mr. O'Connell is survived by a widow, five sons and one daughter. The funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at St. Patrick's church.

Mrs. Ellen Bolger, beloved wife of William Bolger, 635 Speth Court, passed to her eternal reward last Saturday evening, following a delicate operation at St. Joseph's infirmary. Mrs. Bolger was sixty-four years old, and was widely known and highly esteemed in Catholic circles. Besides her husband she leaves several grown children. The funeral took place Monday morning from Holy Cross church, Rev. Father Sheridan being the celebrant of the solemn requiem mass.

CARDINAL

Finds Capitalists and Workers Like Armies Lined For Battle.

Employers Should Take Fatherly Interest In Their Employees.

Father Vaughan Says Personal Relations Treated to Cease.

COURSE OF ACTION SUGGESTED

Cardinal Farley was one of the honor guests at the annual convention dinner of the Superintendents of the Metropolitan Insurance Company in New York City last Saturday. Being present at the special invitation of President Hegmann and other officials, the Cardinal expected to only say grace, but so enthusiastic was his reception that later in the evening he made a short address, in which he touched the differences between capital and labor. When Cardinal Farley made it known that he would soon have to leave and had consented to speak to the diners all were on their feet in a moment, cheering lustily, and remained standing until their guest had left the room.

Cardinal Farley prefaced his remarks by commending President Hegmann and the company for its treatment of employees and beneficiaries, and said in part:

"I have had occasion to speak to capitalists from time to time—and of course the question of capital and labor is too large a one to enter upon tonight, and you on your feet; but I have taken occasion once in a while to say my mind on the subject, and my mind was this: That a fatherly interest and sympathy between employer and employee would solve the entire difficulty between capital and labor. As they stand now today, in a large measure, at least, they look to me like two galleries of statues, feeling one another, having no sympathy with one another. Whatever, no tie, no bond, each one is standing like two armies in battle array, waiting for the order to attack one another. That should not be. That is not American. That is not civilization. There should be a sympathy between them. The employer ought to feel that he is the father of his people, and when a severe sickness or death comes into the family of any one of those in his employ he should step in, not in person, for he could not see them all, but by his appointed representative, and let the company carry its sympathy into the heart of that family and make them feel that they are not alone in the world, and not mere working machines to win the last drop of sweat from and the last particle of energy out of their body. That is my idea of the proper relation. I am happy to feel that there is one institution where for the present that idea is being carried out as far as possible under the circumstances. I am glad to be able to congratulate you, gentlemen, on your relations with your employer. I am glad also to congratulate your President, and I am happy to have made his acquaintance this evening."

Father Vaughan was the next to speak. "In being associated with the Cardinal I feel like a two-cent popular edition when it is brought into contact with a priceless volume bound in crimson morocco," he said. "We are living in the days when all personal relations are beginning to cease. But labor and capital, boss and employer, find the personal equation illustrated in this room, and thank God for that. We are living in the day when capitalists want bigger dividends and labor wants bigger wages. How are these two to be welded into one? By taking the lesson from you."

BOTH DO WELL.

The many friends of Joseph Schrott, formerly of Frankfort, but now of New Haven, Conn., will be glad to learn that he has made good in his new field, having secured there a very lucrative position. E. J. Crouse, another well known young resident of Frankfort, for the past three years with the Illinois Central in Louisville, has been promoted and transferred to the Master Mechanic's office at Paducah.

INVESTED WITH PALLIUM.

In the Cathedral at Philadelphia on Wednesday, in the presence of Cardinal Gibbons and Cardinal Farley and eighteen Bishops, Archbishop Prendergast, of the archdiocese of Pennsylvania, was invested with the pallium. The ceremony was of a most elaborate and solemn character. The investiture took place after the conclusion of a solemn Pontifical mass. The celebrant of the mass was Bishop Fitzmaurice, of Erie, and the sermon was delivered by Bishop Canavin, of Pittsburgh.

MICHAEL THORNTON.

Michael Thornton, for nearly sixty years a highly esteemed resident of New Albany, was buried Monday morning from Holy Trinity church, of which he was a faithful member. Three weeks ago he slipped on the icy pavement near his home, 1602 East Spring street, and sustained injuries to his spine and head that rendered him unconscious nearly all the time. The deceased was born in Ireland eighty-one years ago, coming to New Albany while a young man. For many years he conducted a successful grocery business at Fifteenth and Spring streets. His wife died a few months ago and he is survived by one son and four daughters. The children are Michael Thornton, of Bloomington, Ind.; Mrs. James McManus and Miss Della Thornton, of New Albany; Mrs. Robert Laffey, of Louisville, and Mrs. George Buckman, of Lebanon, Ky.

CONVERT LEAGUE

Holds Good Meeting Hears Reports and Elects Officer.

The annual meeting of the local Catholic Convert League was held last Sunday evening at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Despite the inclemency of the weather more than a hundred people attended. The Rev. Benedict Hanley, C. P., addressed the league on Schollam and Catholicism. He emphasized the dangers of this quasi-political party and showed that its teachings rather than being of a political nature were subversive of all order, religion and government; that they were opposed not only to the teachings of the Catholic church, but also to every other type of Christianity or Protestant belief, and likewise the civil law of the country.

After the officers made their reports for the past year the following were duly elected to fill office for this year: President, Judge Matt. O'Doherty; Vice Presidents, J. J. Caffrey, P. H. Callahan, Thomas A. Walsh, John Doyle, Dr. P. S. Canale, Spiritual Directors, Rev. C. P. Taft and Rev. Benedict Hanley; Treasurer, F. A. Geher; Secretary, Dr. B. J. O'Connor.

As the league is endeavoring to make arrangements with some Catholic paper or magazine devoted to the propagation of the faith to serve as the official paper of the league and to be sent to the members, it is the request of the officers that the Daily Express, J. Ellis Barker, who before he changed his nationality was known under his real German name, Herr J. Elsbacher, and no man foams more about the mouth when Irish home rule is mentioned than the former Fenian and present editor of the Observer, Mr. Garvin.

There is not much doing in the German scare line at present, especially since Lord Londale has told the Kaiser would rather suffer the worst kind of indignities than shed a single drop of English blood, so the pen, but Mr. Garvin is all alive against home rule. If that dreaded measure shall pass both Houses and be signed by the King it is the duty of all the men of Ulster loyal to the King, he says, to prove their loyalty and show themselves as peaceful and law-abiding citizens by making revolution.

Ulster is now the political storm center of the United Kingdom. Home rule has been discussed in England and Scotland by Nationalists and Unionists, but no great enthusiasm has been aroused either for or against. In Ireland, outside of London, the people are firmly convinced that they have home rule, but the Ulsterites are rumored up to their eyes in fight. Every voter in Ulster, however, is a Unionist. There is, in fact, a fairly large sprinkling of Nationalists. In many cases the Unionist members were only returned in the last election by narrow majorities, the Marquis of Hamilton, for instance, winning by only 100 votes in Londonderry. One division of Belfast is represented by John Devlin, one of the Nationalist leaders.

Into this district the battle ground of home rule, for the present at least, the Government and Nationalists soon are to carry their banner and hold a meeting. Winston Spencer Churchill, been elected the Secretary of the First Lord of the Government for home rule, and he is to be accompanied by John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, and other Irish politicians. The date selected for the meeting is February 8 and Unionists and Nationalists of Belfast are predicting a lively night, no matter where the meeting is held. Elaborate police precautions will be taken for the protection of Mr. Churchill. Should he be joined by John Redmond in the drive from the residence of Lord Pirre, where he is to be a guest, to the place of meeting with Redmond's usual escort of Nationalists, there is almost certain to be rioting.

TRINITY COUNCIL

Is Making Steady Progress and Gaining in Members.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., has been making steady progress since the first of the year. At a largely attended meeting Monday night President John Hennessey announced that fifteen candidates were now awaiting initiation. If this rate of increase is continued the membership will soon pass the 400 mark. The work of preparing for the opera that will be given this spring is far advanced, and those who have witnessed the rehearsals predict that the production will be one of the most finished and artistic ever seen in Louisville. Both cast and chorus are taking a lively interest and are now almost prepared for the performance. The financial reports were gratifying, and give evidence of the wisdom displayed in putting young and energetic men at the head of this splendid Catholic organization.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of Holy Trinity church, New Albany, has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Miss Anna Madden, President; Miss Rena Lee, Vice President; Miss Mayne Russell, Secretary; Miss Catherine Cody, Treasurer; Miss Mary Heckel, Librarian, and Miss Alice Terastegge, Assistant Librarian.

CARDINAL AT FORDHAM.

Preparations for the reception which is to be given in Fordham University auditorium on Monday, February 19, in honor of Cardinal Farley, have been completed and are on quite an extensive scale. The Cardinal is the most distinguished alumnus of St. John's College.

BUGABOO

German Peril Is Forgotten In Fight Against Home Rule.

Ulster Now the Political Storm Center of the United Kingdom.

Renegades Who Are Stirring Up Feeling Against the King.

BELFAST NATIONALIST MEETING

But a little over a week now remains until the King will open Parliament with a speech from the throne, which undoubtedly will reveal the government's home rule plans, and a session will begin which will probably be rich in sensations. At present some of the men who are most loyal subjects of the King are busily engaged stirring up feeling against the King's Government in Ulster, and their speakers are every day telling the people of North Ireland that if the King should send over English troops to enforce Irish home rule if granted according to the British constitution by the British Parliament and ratified by the signature of the King, their duty to this same King would be to receive his troops, arms in hand, and fight them to the last ditch.

It is rather strange that two of the hardest worked campaign slogans of the Conservative press—the German peril and the calamity of Irish home rule—are both championed by journalist renegades. No man has written more furious articles against the Daily Express, J. Ellis Barker, who before he changed his nationality was known under his real German name, Herr J. Elsbacher, and no man foams more about the mouth when Irish home rule is mentioned than the former Fenian and present editor of the Observer, Mr. Garvin.

STATUE OF ST. BRIGID.

A statue of St. Brigid, patroness of Ireland, will be unveiled tomorrow afternoon, at St. Raymond's church, Providence, R. I., on the occasion of the feast of St. Brigid. The statue is the gift of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. I. It represents St. Brigid as the abbess of Kildare, robed in the white habit, gray mantle and black veil of the nun of that period. In her left hand she carries the crozier denoting her authority, and her right hand holds in miniature the historic drama, or "churn of the oak" top of the pedestal upon which the statue rests is of timber grown in Paughard, the birthplace of St. Brigid, in County Louth.

GETS BAD FALL.

While making his round last Sunday night O. Kenealey slipped and fell on Green street, between Ninth and sustained a bad fall. He was called and summoned patrol and had the O. K. to his home, where an examination and injury.

TWO VOTES LOST.

In summing up the Wilson-Harvey-Watterson controversy, to a disinterested outsider it appears that Gov. Wilson's strength has diminished just two votes, Col. Harvey's and Col. Watterson's.

WISE PROMOTERS.

The promoters of the Oille James banquet at Frankfort last week did not announce until the last minute that Dan O'Sullivan would act as toastmaster. They certainly had Dan sized up as a drawing card with the Democrats, especially those from his own bailiwick, Louisville.

WHERE?

Where is that long promised prosperity that was scheduled to have a speedy arrival according to the orators and the literature employed during the last Presidential campaign? asks the Boston Hibernian. We are now on the eve of another Presidential contest and there will be another liberal array of promises for the future. The promise is of little account that fails to connect with the performance.

UNMASKED.

Should there be riot and bloodshed in Belfast next Thursday it is Lord Londonderry and the Ulster Orangemen who should be held responsible. What a magnificent example for John Bull, professed lover of fair play and champion of free speech! What a commentary—a shocking commentary—on the Orangemen's claim to be the advocate and defender of civil and religious liberty! What an exposure of the party that is never tired of posing as the party of law and order in Ireland! Fair play, free speech, civil liberty, law and order, are all flouted by open menace of riot and disorder, mob law and brute force, bloodshed and murder. The Ulster Unionist Council has pulled down the Union Jack and raised at last its true colors—the black flag of anarchy and mob law. No wonder English Unionist prints deplore the folly of the Orange manifesto. Nothing could better display the real meaning of Orangism—its bitter intolerance, negation of all true freedom, and above all its fatuity.

Judge Edward F. Dunne, former Mayor of Chicago, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Illinois. Judge Dunne stands pledged to the enactment of laws governing corrupt practices at election, election of Senators by direct vote of the people, the enactment into law of the initiative and referendum and other progressive measures which will restore representative government and assure the people of permanent control of the functions and prerogatives that have been wrested from them by the forces of special privilege through the debauching of corrupt public servants.

The bill before the Legislature making smoking of cigarettes by minors a misdemeanor should pass, but not until the clause providing a fee for "informers" has been stricken out. That clause would lead to lying and perjury. Informers as a class are everywhere despised, and they should not be encouraged by law in Kentucky.

The Perry Centennial Commission has selected Louisville as one of the two cities in which will be celebrated Commodore Perry's historic achievement. Cleveland is the other city that will share in this great distinction. The Louisville Jubilation has been set for the first week in October next year.

Representative Charles H. Knight's bill to equalize the firemen and policemen's pensions is the proper one to settle this mooted problem, and should be passed without question.

FURNACE ELECTION.

The Association of Pre-Industrial Academy will meet next week for the purpose of holding a furnace election and electing officers for the coming year. All members are invited to be present.

BY CARDINAL.

The 10th Regiment, of New York, reviewed by Cardinal Gibbons, and was followed by the parade. Though the weather was only the best.

For Members of Hibernian Ladies' Auxiliary.

A rousing meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary is expected next Wednesday night, when a surprise and treat is in store for all who attend, the result of the membership contest won by the team headed by Miss Nellie Broderick. The contest was a spirited one, Mrs. Dougherty's followers losing by only a small margin. Another will be inaugurated after Lent, when it is hoped to bring the membership to over 200. Miss Mary Corcoran, the President, is very enthusiastic, and says Louisville will make a most creditable showing at the next State convention. The auxiliary will give a dance Friday night in the hall of Trinity Council, and as it will be the last social affair until after Easter the officers and members cordially invite their friends to be present.

COME TO STAY.

A very important acquisition to the commercial circles of Louisville is represented by the Dundee Woolen Mills, which formally opened its doors in the Seelbach Hotel building Wednesday. This concern, with general headquarters in Chicago, has 105 stores in the leading towns and cities of the country, all turning out suits for men and boys at $15—no more, no less. A perfect fit and entire satisfaction is guaranteed every way.

Mr. Wisenberger, the local manager, is a practical and thoroughly up-to-date business man, with pleasant address and an energy and push that is bound to make itself felt. He says his company likes Louisville and has come to stay. Every garment they put out with the union label and guarantee of absolute satisfaction.

EUCIRE, LOTTO, SUPPER.

Arrangements for a midwinter festival, consisting of a eucire, lotto and supper, to be given by the ladies of St. Charles Borromeo church, Twenty-eighth and Chestnut streets, on the afternoon and evening of February 7 and 8, are nearing completion. The entertainment will be given at 2820 West Broadway and the proceeds will be devoted to the church building fund. The new church, in the course of erection, is nearing completion and efforts are being made by the members of the congregation to have it free of debt when finished.

MANY ARE SICK.

The extremely cold weather of the past month has caused much sickness among members of the local police force. Among the sufferers were Patrolmen James Hourigan, Mike McDonough, W. J. Sullivan and Sergeant Jerry Quill. In the fire department William Burke, John Quill and William Garrity are on the sick list. At last accounts all were improving and expect to soon be able to resume their positions.

FORTY HOURS' PRAYER.

The Forty Hours' Adoration is appointed to begin at St. Anthony's church, Twenty-third and Market, at the high mass tomorrow morning. Father Seraphin will conduct the services, which will be elaborate and impressive and will continue until Tuesday evening. The choir, one of the best in the city, will render an artistic musical programme under the direction of Prof. Kolross.

QUINN—DUFFY.

Miss Irene Quinn and James Duffy, popular in West End Catholic society circles, will be united in the holy bonds of marriage at St. Cecilia's church next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the Rev. Father Brady performing the ceremony. Immediately after their marriage the happy couple will leave for a honeymoon trip to New York and other Eastern cities.

COUNCILORS.

At the annual meeting of St. Mary's congregation in New Albany the following gentlemen were elected Parish Councilors for the year: Louis C. Stein, Peter Petter, Frank Zeller, Jr., Nicholas Ritter, John Louis and Conrad Broeker. Reports show St. Mary's congregation to be one of the most prosperous in the Indianapolis diocese.

RECOVERING.

Burch J. Hagan, the well known South Louisville pharmacist, who has been ill of heart trouble for the past two weeks, is now out of danger and on the road to complete recovery, to the great relief of his numerous friends. For several days last week his condition was regarded as most serious.

SOCIETY.

Dr. George Leachman has returned from a trip to New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Schulten have returned from a week's visit to Boston.

Miss Estelle Kelly, of Clifton, has been entertaining Miss Lollie Neal, of Shelby county.

Mrs. John D. Griffin, of Frankfort, came down last week to visit Louisville relatives.

Mrs. William Malone, of Parkview, spent last week in Rosedale as the guest of Mrs. J. Russell.

Mrs. Mary Richards, of 315 East Main street, New Albany, is visiting her daughter at Orleans, Ind.

Miss Mary Meany is in Washington, D. C., to spend the winter with her brother, Dr. William B. Meany.

Mrs. Mary Connell is suffering from an attack of grip at her home, 417 West Seventh street, New Albany.

Philo O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien visited in Elizabethtown last week, the guests of James Montgomery and family.

Floyd Burns and wife and children of Lexington, have been spending a week here visiting Mrs. McCloy in Clifton.

Louisville people recently in New York were Fred Porcht, Jr., T. Grady, P. J. Hanlon, M. P. Kelly and W. S. Mullen.

Edward Thickston arrived last week from Indianapolis to visit his aged mother, Mrs. J. E. Thickston, in Jeffersonville.

Miss Lucy Smyser, who was the guest of Miss Katherine Malone in the Highlands, left Monday for her home in Indiana.

Mrs. J. H. Sullivan, of South Louisville, had as her guest for several days her brother, J. C. Goldsmith, of Bonnyville.

Capt. John Lyons and wife, West Main street, New Albany, had their daughter, Mrs. A. D. Lewis, of French Lick, as their guest for the past week.

Miss Sarah Ruhel entertained at bridge Tuesday evening at her home in honor of her guest, Miss Josephine Farrell, of Lexington, and Miss Eleanor Innes, of Elkhart, Ind.

Mary Maurye Crotty is the full title of a pretty little baby girl who arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Crotty on Greenwood avenue last week. The genial father is still setting up the cigars.

Christopher R. Luckert and bride, who was Miss Mary Loretta Rehm, are expected to return today from their wedding trip, spent in the East. They will be with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rehm for a few days before going to housekeeping.

Joe Arnold, of Lebanon Junction, arrived last week for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Disney Ryan, in South Louisville. He was accompanied by his nephew, Master Lawrence Ryan, who returned from a two months' visit to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Daniel, of 424 Garden street, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding on Wednesday evening. It was a surprise affair planned by their daughters and only a few friends were let into the secret. There was a beautiful spread and lots of music. Mr. Daniel is an operator on the Louisville Times. The guests enjoyed the evening and departing wished their hosts many more years of married bliss.

Miss Theresa Hollendal, of Chicago, is having a delightful visit here as the guest of Miss Marie Schlemmer. Friday evening Miss Ethel Ryan entertained in her honor at her home on Western Parkway. Those present were Misses Theresa Hollendal, Arline Hudson, Mae Brennan, Marie Schlemmer, Jeanette Schweitzer, Grace Williams, Ethel Ryan and INAUGURATED.

Social Sessions For Catholic Knights Are Assured.

The Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America on Friday night of last week inaugurated the social feature plan devised for the different branches and all members of the order. The suggestion came from Secretary Ben Kruse and promises beneficial results. President John Schalda occupied the chair, and Messrs. Ben Kruse, Will Mehan, Joe McClint, Harry Veeneman and Charles Hill were appointed a committee on rules and programme, their report being accepted without a dissenting voice. For an hour the interest of the order and plans for future work were discussed, after which a light luncheon was served. It was gratifying to the delegates to see so many visitors present, and hereafter every effort will be made to have a larger representation at all these meetings, which will be held with the different branches when called by the Secretary. The regular business meeting of the Central Committee takes place next Friday night.

CASINO—ORPHEUM.

The Casino and Orpheum, the two high class motion picture houses of this section, both noted for the character and clearness of their films, have cut the admission to five cents for the future, although the quality and quantity of the programmes will remain the same as heretofore. This move will add to their popularity. Their bills for next week include some thrilling pictures and some mirth provoking comedy scenes.

CATHOLIC CHILDREN'S PAPER.

The Catholic Church Extension Society publishes an illustrated little paper every month called The Child Apostle. It is edited by one of the priests of the society specially for little ones. It is only twenty-five cents a year. Send for a sample copy, or better still, send twenty-five cents in stamps for a year's subscription for your boy or girl. Address The Child Apostle, 1133 McCormick building, Chicago, Ill.

FOR WOMAN'S EYE.

Street gloves are seen with Impression clasp. Feather hands are smart for evening hair-dressing. Shot taffeta trimming is a feature of new spring hats. All varieties of fringe will continue in high favor.

Chic are the black and white combinations in footwear.

Plain, flat revers will be a predominating feature in spring suits. Shadow veilings with silk run designs have a promise of popularity.

First hats for spring are either small and close or large and high trimmed.

Fatigue is a ribbon weave that is expected to be in good demand for millinery trimming.

Collarettes continue to be much worn, and they appear in many new designs with fancy edgings.

Tailor made dresses are severely plain, with the same tailoring and finish that are given to suits.

Scene From "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" at the Avenue Next Week.

WALNUT THEATER.

Get in line for Hanlon's famous "Fantasma," which is to be the attraction here at the Walnut Theater next week. It is coming in a new and revised edition, with more wonders than ever before and just bubbling over with the effectiveness of good humor. There is a company of more than 100 people, including a chorus of pretty girls. Then there are several car-loads of scenery, and above all some principals who can really act and specialties which are the very best that could be obtained in Europe.

DEACON COOKIES.

Three eggs, one cup of sugar, one cup of butter and lard mixed, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted with enough flour to make a soft dough. Mix well, add flavoring to taste, roll out, cut into rounds and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a hot oven. Double this recipe if you want a large amount of the cookies.

Petroleum Development Company, Ardmore, Oklahoma:

Gentleman - We have each received notice of the acceptance by you of our offer to purchase lots in the Scully Sub-division in the productive Wheeler Santa Fe Oil field of Oklahoma, eighteen miles from Ardmore and within less than a mile of Oil City. After thorough investigation, we were so well pleased with the fairness of the proposition that we are strongly recommending it to our friends.
In our judgement you are not offering for sale doubtful stock, but solid land in a proven oil field of immense possibilities, as shown by present developments.
Your plan is open and above board, fair and honest, back by ample security and by men of high standing, and we shall continue to recommend its purchase.

GOOD ONES.

Banquet Stories Related
by President of Notre Dame.The Rev. John Cavanaugh, President of the University of Notre Dame, told several stories at the Indiana Society banquet during his address on "The Indiana Home.""Speaking of being born, reminds me of a good old Hoosier who told me how he missed being born in Indiana," said Father Cavanaugh. "His mother had a favorite sister who had married a man from Illinois, and she had been doing time in that State for a good many years. This man went on to tell how his mother got lonesome to see her sister, and went for a good long visit with her. During the course of that visit my old friend was born. 'And that's how it came,' he said, 'that I wasn't born a Hoosier. I was born in the absence of my mother.'"Continuing, Father Cavanaugh said: "And there is the English neighbor, who unlike the Scotchman, does not take his pleasure sadly, but does contrive a rare and exquisite melancholy into his humor. This story belongs to Tom Daly, the best fellow in the world. He is a humorist and a poet, and he would have reached real greatness if he could have lived awhile in Indiana. The picture is of two Englishmen, a cocky little fellow looking up to a big bruiser who shakes his fist in the little fellow's face and says, 'Did you tell Brown that I was a d— rascal?'
'No, I thought he knew it.'"
"There is no bigotry in Indiana.
No pulpit thunders against pulpit down there, no creed screeches maledictions against a rival creed. I don't mean that the line between creed and creed has been wiped awayMEN'S altogether. Doubtless there are many in every sect like Cornelius Hagerty, the contractor. They were building a new church and the funds had not come in as fast as had been expected and the priest thought he would simplify matters by appointing a sum of money which he thought proportionate to each man's wealth, and so he taxed Con Hagerty $1,000. Con had begun to feel the religious indifference that sometimes goes with success and when he heard that he had been nuked a thousand dollars he was frantic. 'I'll never pay it,' he exclaimed, 'I'll become a Presbyterian and go to hell first.'

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Division 7 of Springfield, Mass.,
will conduct a fair from February 12
to 17.

The fair held by the Hibernians of Plainfield, N. J., realized $1,000 for the building fund.

Next week will be a busy one for the local divisions, as all but Division 4 will hold meetings.

The County Board met too late this week for this edition, but the proceedings will appear in our next issue.

Former National President Matthew Cummings has been elected President of his division at Neponsset.

Division 3 and Auxiliary 2 held a joint installation at Montgomery, Mass., and despite the cold weather
the hall was packed.

Recently at Worcester, Mass., the first act toward bringing the membership up to 3,000 in that city was the initiation of a class of 128.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Portland,
Ore., attended mass at St. Mary's Cathedral on Thursday morning in honor of their patron, St. Bridget.

During the past year many divisions in the Eastern States have acquired real estate and will in the near future own their own halls.

Twelve hundred Hibernians assembled in Fitchburg, Mass., to witness the district initiation, when 200 new members were received into the order.

Vermont Hibernians are making themselves felt. Two initiations in one week, one at Poulinney and the other at Rutland, increased the membership 204.

The Boston Hibernian notes that in nearly every instance the Presidents of the divisions in the Middle and Western States is a prominent professional or business man in the community in which the division is located.

Have you secured a candidate for the coming initiation? This can be done by every member with but little effort, and thus the order would be greatly strengthened. Get busy among your neighbors and you will be elated with the results.

Indianapolis Hibernians, their protest being futile, passed resolutions requesting that members and the public "ignore the obnoxious play and the theater where it was harbored," and thus gave Lady Gregory and the "Irish Players" their greatest disappointment.

NOTRE DAME.

Body of Father Badin Still Reposes Under Its Shadow.

The Kentucky Irish American has just received from Rev. John Cay-anaugh, C. S. C., President of Notre Dame University, the following letter, which makes final disposition of a subject that aroused much interest and conjecture in Catholic circles in Kentucky and Indiana:

"It has been very generally stated in the Catholic press and in certain secular newspapers that the body of Father Stephen Theodore Badin has been transferred from the University of Notre Dame to Cincinnati, Ohio.

At first I was disposed to pay no attention to this erroneous report, but the number of letters addressed to me on the subject shows how deep and how widespread is the interest in it. It also shows, by the way, the power of the Catholic press for publicity. The truth is that the body of Father Badin reposes under the shadow of the University of Notre Dame, which was one of the great missionary centers created by Father Badin in the pioneer days. Indeed it was Father Badin who procured from the United States Government
the ground on which the University stands. Some months ago letters from Bishop O'Donohue, of Wheeling, and the chaplain and the Mother Superior of Loretto Convent in Kentucky requested a relic of Father Badin to be inclosed in a monument they were erecting to him in Loretto. The request was courteously granted and a bone from the body of the saintly pioneer was resolutely transferred to the great Kentucky convent, of which he may

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Late News That Will Interest
Members Here and Elsewhere.

There are eight Fourth Degree
assemblies in Indiana.

With the initiation on March 2 the council at Portland, Ore., will have over 600 members.

Preparations are being made for the initiation of a class of fifty at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on April 14.

During Lent the entertainments of the council at Batavia, N. Y., will be in the nature of sacred concerts and lectures.

Dr. J. Vincent Fallis, a former member of Louisville Council, has been named Lecturer for the Knights at Little Rock, Ark.

Sixty candidates will be admitted into the order at a joint initiation to be held by the Covington and Newport councils on February 11.

During the past year there were eight impressive eximifications at Schenectady, N. Y., and the membership increased from 300 to 700.

Before leaving Jeffersonville for St. Mary's of the Woods the Rev.
Maurice O'Connor was presented a vase of $150 by the Knights of that city.

The new home being erected in Schenectady at a cost of $45,000 will include an auditorium with a seating capacity of 2,500, the largest in the city.

The Supreme Council will not meet this year at Cambridge Springs.
When the Supreme Board meets at Washington in April another place will be selected.

The Knights of Portland, Ore., project the erection of a substantial six or seven story building this summer. They now own a fine site at Park and Taylor streets.

Milwaukee Knights have organized a reading circle for members and Catholic ladies. The main study will be United States history with special reference to Catholic activities.

Knighthood flourishes in Little Rock. The second and third degrees will be conferred on many candidates on February 18, and on the day following there will be an exemplification of the fourth.

OIL AND GAS

Interest Taken Here in
New Fields in Oklahoma.

Gov. Lee Cruce, of Oklahoma, an ex-Kentuckian, in a letter recommending the Petroleum Development Company of Ardmore, Okla., and "The Scully Sub-Division," the land they are setting in Louisville,
says:

"The officers stand well as honest, upright business men in the community in which they live; that there has been considerable development in oil and gas lines in the
"Wheeler Sante Fe field." The Sante Fe Railway Company has done most of the development, has expended approximately a half million dollars in this field; still other companies have recently entered the field and are doing development work. The gas has been piped to the city of Ardmore, fifteen or twenty miles distance. As to the quantity of oil produced by the wells, the same is purely speculative, as the Sante Fe Railway Company keeps its own counsel and gives no information to the public. From the fact that it continues to spend thousands of dollars in the field and is obtaining all of the lands it possibly can, either by purchase or lease, one is driven to the opinion that the field is a profitable one. The land of The Petroleum Development Company is very close to the developed oil land.
I might add that there have been very, very few wells drilled in that section that have not proven productive. As to the future of the field,
I am quite thoroughly convinced that it will be developed into a great oil field, and I believe that there will be many thousands of dollars yet taken from the field."

The attention of our readers is requested to the advertisement of The Petroleum Development Company appearing in this paper.
